WHO ATTENDS

The TICON Africa Conference brings together the people and institutions shaping Africa's digital future — senior executives, government leaders, policymakers, regulators, technology innovators, investors, academics, development partners, and influential industry decision-makers.

For sponsors and strategic partners, TICON Africa offers direct access to C-suite executives, senior government officials, policymakers, ICT leaders, investors, industry pioneers and key decision-makers who are driving digital transformation across Africa. It is more than an audience — it is a room filled with the people who shape decisions, unlock opportunities, influence policy and determine the direction of Africa's technology ecosystem.
